- You need to focus on the basics and concept first, go through with every topic concept, and then solve a question.
- Focus on topics like natural numbers, simplification, arranging of fractions, operation of numbers, conversion of units as they are simple and quite scoring.
- Please make a list of all formulae,[It will be beneficial for the topics like geometry, mensuration, and commercial maths] essential concepts, and tips in one notebook and try to revise them every day. If you learn any new concepts, note them down in your notebook.
- .Math is the game of practicing, so try to solve maximum questions on each topic, gives quizzes regularly, and your marks in maths will increase automatically.
- .Make a proper timetable for not only for maths but each topic and list down all the topics in a notebook first learn a concept and then try to solve questions.
- Revision is the most important thing when it comes to memorizing the thing for a long time. A very famous quote is, "If you learn anything only one time, it means you didn't learn anything". So, try to revise every week what you have learned for the whole week.
- Furthermore, last but not least, Give a mock test regularly and assess yourself, note down your mistakes and work again on that.

Strategy for the General Knowledge section in the Sainik school entrance exam.

- First of all, note down all topics from the static and dynamic points of view. Static means which are not changeable and dynamic means which change over time.

- After that, you need to do a deep analysis of the previous year's paper and note down the pattern of questions being asked every year, and covering the first.
- Nowadays gk section has been easy, and you can score well by preparing this section smartly.
- .Current affairs also play a crucial role so, try to be aware of your surroundings and burning topics and make notes for the current affairs section.
- Note all the essential facts, days, monuments, inventions, vitamins, National parks, etc. Moreover, revise all those things promptly.
- If you face any problem learning and memorizing anything, try to write it down again and again. It will automatically feed into your subconscious mind.
- Revision is significant in the gk section, so do not forget to revise what you have learned and practiced lots of questions.
- Take the mock tests, quizzes and assess yourself. Note down your mistakes and any new topic or fact which you learned through mocks and quizzes.
- Last but not least try to solve every question of the last five previous years' questions. It will not help you directly but covering the previous year's question makes you confident for the exam.

Strategy for preparing the intelligence section in Sainik school entrance exam

- Scoring in the intelligence section depends on your observation skill and how you react to the question. The questions are designed only to check your mental ability. That is why it is also called mental ability and reasoning.
- Non-verbal reasoning topics like image assembling, figure-counting, etc. demand you to employ visual imagination. These topics are time-consuming, but you can not ignore them as they are time-consuming. Practicing is the best way to make them a cakewalk for you.
- First, try to go through the previous year's question. As we mentioned above, note down the weightage of the topics and start learning concepts accordingly.
- A topic like paper folding, mirror image, odd one out, and diagram question needs Practice. These are the scoring topics you can easily score well just by practicing 10 to 20 questions daily.
- Enroll in mock tests and live tests and try to notice the pattern of every question before solving it in your notebook.
- The numerical value of alphabets makes your work easy for solving the type of question like if "BAT is Coded 2120" then how "Book will code".

Here you can notice a pattern; the question is just about the numerical value of alphabets and nothing else.

- If you are good at playing with numbers and mathematical operations, it will help you solve some questions quickly. So, Try to improve your mathematical calculation.

- Download Pdfs of questions, take quizzes and concept videos from Geometry school and stay ahead with your competitor.
